In Alcoholics Anonymous we have many sayings, “catch phrases”, and true-isms that we hear again and again. Some carry more weight than others and may have more or less importance to an alcoholic at any given point in their recovery. I believe most are important to retain as one never knows how and when they may positively effect another’s sobriety. I recently had the opportunity to visit an A.A. meeting outside the Los Angeles/North Hollywood area and heard a speaker use a phrase I would like to pass on. To end a very inspiring share this speaker quoted his sponsor as saying, “You don’t have to think less of yourself, you just need to think of yourself less.” For me, this speaks to the heart of a humility we seek in A.A. in which one need not be subservient or feel “less than” to be humble and seek to help others. I hope all who read this can find a meaning in this phrase that will help them continue toward a sense of self worth while maintaining a humility that can serve others as we "...practice these principles in all our affairs."

You know it’s time to sober up when:

- those fluttering things that keep scaring you are your hands.
- you realize the last time you were sober you didn’t have kids.
